

BALTIMORE & OHIO WILL ERECT BIG STOCK YARDS AT THIS POINT.

There Will Be Eighty Pens at Greene Junction Where Cattle Can Be Unloaded in Transit.

MAY COST FULLY $25,000

E. W. Skipworth of Chicago and B. M. Wilson of Baltimore Get Figures From Contractors To Meet New Railroad Law's Requirements.

It is stated on reliable authority that a stock yard costing in the neighborhood of $25,000 will be erected at Greene Junction in the near future by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. Already local contractors have been asked to furnish estimates of the construction cost. It is expected that a final decision in regard to the matter will be reached within the next few days.

The stock yards will be 50 feet long. There are to be two rows of stockades, containing 40 pens in each row. The pens will be 20 by 40 feet in size. Each pen is to be sufficiently large to hold a cow, and will be under the new railroad cuts. The pens are to be built of wood and will be divided into two sections. The pens will be built on a level with the bottom of the pens. The doors will then be thrown open and the stock, cattle, hogs and other animals, can be turned out. In this manner an entire stock train can be emptied almost as quickly as a single car.

The matter of the stock yard here is in the hands of E. W. Skipworth of Chicago and B. M. Wilson of Baltimore. Both left yesterday after spending several days in this vicinity looking over the ground and consulting with builders and contractors. After receiving the estimates Mr. Skipworth is said to have stated that the plans would be drawn up as quickly as possible and submitted for competitive bidding.

"BOOTLEGGER" IS CAUGHT IN RAID.

Charles Tompkins, Wanted in Uniontown Found at Morgantown.

Charged with PICKPOCKETING
Tompkins and Six Other Men Were Chased About the Race Track at Morgantown and Finally Apprehended—Other Charges Made.

Special to The Courier.
UNIONTOWN, Aug. 19.—Caught in a raid conducted by the Morgantown police at the race track yesterday afternoon, Charles Tompkins was recognized as the fugitive wanted in Fayette county as a partner of Charles Miller in the Uniontown "bootlegging" case. He was arrested together with six other men after a long chase in which most of the spectators at the race participated. All are charged with being pickpockets. The Morgantown police have consented to turn their man over to the Fayette county authorities, and Constable Hugh McCann left this morning to bring him back. Tompkins stated today that he would come without regulation.

On June 20th, County Detective Alex McBeth made information against Miller and Tompkins, both of Uniontown, charging them with selling liquor without a license on Sunday, and to minors. The former was arrested this evening and held for court by Squire Daniel M. Elmer. Bail in the sum of $1,000 was furnished for his release. At a hearing before Squire Paul A. Condy, of Leitch, last evening, he was held for court on a charge of embezzlement, preferred by John Hingreen, who alleged that he is still in possession of $352 which he paid to him on an insurance policy. Miller is at present in jail in default of a second thousand dollar bail. He is well known, both in Uniontown and Connellville, having conducted a messenger service between this city and Pittsburgh for some years.

Thompson, who is only 25 years of age, has been in the county jail a number of times for minor offenses. McBeth secured information that the pair were buying bonded Sam Thompson whiskey in Pittsburgh, at 40c a pint. The cobbler's shop of J. W. Hurd on South street, Uniontown, was used as a place of business. Sunday was the big day, the bottles retailing at $1.50 apiece, while on weekdays the price was reduced to 65c. According to the detective, the men made a specialty of selling to people who could not procure liquors at the local bars. When the place was searched, one suit case and two telescopes were revealed, containing in all, over 100 bottles. Detectives McBeth and McLaughlin traced him to West Virginia.

BAFFLING WINDS LAND AERONAUTS IN A WILDERNESS NEAR MEYERSDALE AFTER 12 HOURS JOURNEY IN CLOUDS.

Dr. Eldridge's Balloon Started From Point Breeze, Philadelphia, Tuesday Night for Canada and Came Down on Negro Mountain—Party Had Hard Time Making Their Way to Salisbury, Going From There to Meyersdale by Trolley—Were Up 14,000 Feet.

Dr. Thomas E. Eldridge, president; Dr. Geo. H. Shumerman, vice president, and Ira L. Brown, all members of the Philadelphia Aeronautical Recreation Society, left Meyersdale last night on the Duquesne Limited upon their return to the Quaker City after a sensational twelve hours spent in the clouds. These three aeronauts left Point Breeze, Philadelphia, at 8:35 o'clock Tuesday evening. In the balloon "Philadelphia II," with the view of carrying the stars and stripes into Canada, but owing to adverse air currents they were compelled to descend at a point on the summit of the Negro mountain range, about four miles west of Grantsville, Md., in the heart of a dense wilderness, far from any human habitation.

The landing was made without injury to any of the men at 9:05 o'clock Wednesday morning. The balloon was damaged considerably by coming in contact with the tree tops. After landing the party spent almost the entire day finding their way out of the forest and transporting the balloon to West Salisbury, from which point it was shipped to Philadelphia. The worst adventures came to Meyersdale on the trolley from Salisbury at a late hour Wednesday evening and after relaying their experiences, and partaking of a hearty meal, left for their home in the east.

They were in the air 12 hours and 25 minutes, and traveled an estimated distance of 331 miles, which breaks all local records for Pennsylvania. The aeronauts also stated that the "Philadelphia II" holds the record for altitudes, 17,050 feet, and for distance on a single voyage, 350 miles. The greatest altitude reached on this voyage was 14,000 feet.

According to Doctor Eldridge, he now possesses all the records that Pennsylvania balloons can boast of. He rose to an altitude of 11,000 feet, with the Stars and Stripes and Doctor Shumerman, on June 18; captured the distance record on the Danbury trip, and now beats the old Ben Franklin time-in-the-air record, made by Dr. T. Chalmers Fulton last year. Doctor Fulton flew to Maryland and was 12 hours and 30 minutes in doing it.

When Doctor Eldridge, with his companions, left Point Breeze on Tuesday night he intended to float north into Canada. Of course, it is not his fault that the wind was not traveling in that direction. The wind was blowing in a general westerly direction and the Doctor said that if he couldn't make Canada he would be satisfied with Pittsburgh.

OHIOPILE IS LIVELIEST POINT

At Pinkerton Expert Tunnel Men Are at Work Boring Through the Hill. Poley Brothers Overcome Serious Obstacles Above Bidwell.

Rapid progress is being made on the new line of the Connellville and State Line railroad, the connecting link between the Western Maryland at Cumberland and the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie at Connellville.

Ohiopile is one of the busiest points along the line but all the contractors are making the best time they know how. The bridge work at Ohiopile keeps a large force of men busy and the work is progressing as rapidly as could be expected.

McCurt and Herndon are pushing work east from Ohiopile towards Roaring Springs, almost opposite Bidwell. This firm is making exceptionally good progress. Poley brothers have a big contract in the next section. They are working west of McCurt and Herndon. A portion of their contract they have subcontracted in order to center their efforts on a bad stretch just west of the Reed farm, along the south bank of the Yough river. They are forcing through a narrow defile in the river where much blasting is required. Some of the bluffs rise fully 200 feet above the grade of the railroad. Further east through the Reed farm the ground is almost level and this work is almost completed. There is room here for four or more tracks if desired.

The Reed farm is getting its full share of industry. W. H. Wilkey & Company have a section which commences almost in the center of this tract. They are making good time here as well as through the Show and Portney farms. Wilkey also is working through the farm owned by John Hanna and other parties. Then comes the W. H. Reber farm, where the first work has been done on the approach to the long span which must not only cross the Yough river but two country roads and the Confluence & Oakland branch of the B. & O. as well. The work on this bridge has not been started. The contractors are working on the two new spans that cross the Casselman work of Pinkerton.

East of the Yough river there is a cut of from 35 to 40 feet through the ridge to the Casselman. The dirt from this will be used to fill the 20 feet or more across the Bird addition to Confluence.

Other contractors are making good time. Noy & McDonald are getting material for the concrete work to be done, having that contract.

Between Hagerstown and Pinkerton the principal work being done is on the tunnel to go through the hill between these points. The hard rock men are on the job with their drills and making good progress, although it seems slow in comparison to the work done by the steam shovels on soft dirt.

BACK TO THE LAND

National Movement of Residents of Cities to Become Farmers.

In the big cities all over the country the cry is "back to the land." People who cannot see anything in the city imagine that they can become wealthy on a farm, while the average farmer would consider himself well off if he had the income of a good mechanic in the city. The real truth of the matter is that success in any line awaits the man who is economical—who is content to live simply until he can afford to live otherwise. Keeping extensive high income and putting the balance in a good bank means ultimate independence whether you are a farmer or a mechanic, a hickster or a clerk. Try it. Open a savings account with The First National Bank of Connellsville. Add something to it regularly and watch your account grow. Four per cent interest. It starts you.

Narrow Escape From Accidental Revolver Shot

Special to The Courier.

SCOTTDAL, Aug. 18.—Two holes in the plate glass windows of the western side of the potteries tell of the narrow escape from the accidental discharge of a revolver. Assistant Postmaster Dricker it is said was getting a sheet of paper out of a box in Postmaster B. C. Fretz's front office. Behind the box filled with paper in the next compartment of the drawer lay a revolver ready for business.

It is explained that as Mr. Dricker lifted the lid of the box an order book lying on the top of the box lid slid off falling into the drawer and striking on the revolver discharged it. The bullet struck one plate glass broke it and glanced breaking through another glass. Anyone coming into the potteries would have had a narrow escape.

H. P. SNYDER, Editor.

FRIDAY EVENING, AUG. 19, 1910.

COMPANY D NEWS
FROM GETTYSBURG CAMP.

By Wm. C. Bishop.
GETTYSBURG, Aug. 15.—Governor's Day, the big day for the boys, is over, and all are glad of it. It was one of the best days we ever had for a general review. No sun at all and a fine breeze. The big chief, with his staff, including Col. J. M. Reid of Connelville, reviewed the whole division on horseback. As they passed each regiment the bands played "Hail to the Chief." In their new uniforms they made a fine showing.
Next year, it is said, camp will be made at Erie, Pa., and the boys are all glad to hear that will be the place. Thousands of visitors were here to see the review, from Philadelphia, Baltimore, York and Harrisburg.
The band led off last night to attend the band concert and minstrel put on by the 11th Regiment, and it was all right.
Private Moser of the Hospital Corps was slightly misinformed about the bathing facilities connected with army life and was found intruding in Farmer Brown's barn clad in a bath robe, the other morning.
We break camp Friday and will be in Connelville Saturday morning. This being such a pleasant camp, the boys are all sorry that they have to leave.

On the field this morning the Hospital Corps were getting instructions from the regular army surgeons. They would put a tab on each man telling what had happened, to see if they knew what to do. One man had a knob attached reading, "Left arm broken above the elbow." Buck Smith took a bunch of splints and bandages and got to work, but when the man was taken to the hospital the surgeons found out that Smith had bandaged the right arm. Smith tried to explain to them that he was left handed. For the mistake he was ordered to attend school last night.

First Sergeant Koller reports that he has the best company in the regiment. The boys are very prompt in obeying orders and are always first in all formations. The camp duties are very hard this trip, as the marches are both long and hard, besides some very hard detail work. Barnes, Wilson, Williams and Baker wheeled stones a distance of a half mile to fill up the sinks.

Private H. Barnes, of the local company, has a talking way with him, for he got an extra issue of bread from the commissary.

Private Akkimer cut three cords of wood after supper last night.

First Sergeant Koller suffered a severe sprain of the left foot and ankle.

Private Williams and Private Haguo are the life of the camp.

As usual, things are moving very smoothly in camp here. The boys have learned the routine of camp life and are enjoying the best of health.

Private Clifton of Company D is on the job as usual.

Artiller George Minna is suffering an attack of indigestion.

Lieutenant McIntosh had the company on the field yesterday and made good.

Quartermaster Frost reports provisions are very high and hard to get, but he has been giving the boys good grub.

Private Morris is very sore at this place in town for he has not received any letters from them since he has been in camp.

Private Harry Miller of Dunbar got a girl the first day in camp and has not been in camp since.

Captain Roy H. Koller reports he has stood the best inspection the company has had for years. He had the best line of any company in the regiment on the field on inspection. The books and papers were found perfect and received 100 per cent. Altogether the inspection was very satisfactory. The Inspector General complimented Captain Koller on the appearance of the men and the tidy appearance they put up and said he had a fine body of men.

Privates L. E. Murphy and William Gilly of Company D are running a race in popularity, as they are receiving cards by the hundred from their friends at home.

Private Fred Buttermore is the strong man of the company. He has the record of the regiment in hammer throwing. He has beaten the best throw by 15 feet.

George Minna has had to make a couple of trips to the hospital.

Today the company is out on an all day march. At noon they will halt and cook their own meat. Following this drill in pitching pup tents will be held.

Teddy Williams has bought out every rest card man in camp.

Charles Moore for the first time in three camps stayed in quarters on account of sickness. Charles is noted for his presence in line.

Company D has had few visitors from Connelville. In fact Capt Dunn is about the only one.

John Gaster, the grub man, was up today at 4:30 so as to be in town at 5 o'clock, this being market day here.

The Sergeants of the hospital got a cut in their pay. This year they only draw $20. In former years they drew

NO PLACE TO BE MISSED.
Lined lines on wall show places to be visited on the map by T. R. starting August 25.

228. That makes Paul Smith and Homer Cunningham feel sore, they being the only two affected by the cut.

Company B of New Brighton sent a detail over to the Tenth Band, claiming that they had the largest man in camp this year. But when the band produced Salvatore Desmondo the man that held the record for the past four years saw it was all off. Their man felt behind 65 pounds. They then challenged the company for a lightweight. And when we produced Harold Decker, our 80-pounder, they gave up.

Last night the boys were all having a good time in general and stayed up too late. This morning there were plenty of extra men for police duty. Only half of the band was to play at 5:30.

The Company and Band both had chicken for dinner yesterday. It looks bad too, because the cooks, Arthur Stanton and Ferd Bird, were out till 3 o'clock. Stanton says they roost high but we need the birds.

The apple, pear and peach trees here are bending to the ground with fruit.

Everything the State furnishes this year is good but the butter and they have to keep the ice box locked. If they did not it would walk out and go over to the regulars.

The boys have a great time fighting the battle of Gettysburg over. You can hear the cannons roar if you wake up any time in the night.

When Surgeon R. L. Hinman went to town he saw Captain Powell, who was waiting for his wife at the depot, and asked Hinman to take his horse back to camp. Gettysburg streets were not wide enough for him to spread himself; he looked like a General. He even missed his dinner to have the photographer take his picture.

Nobody drinks in the band or Company D, but at dinner time even the plates come in with a bun on.

The boys started the story that there was a fine kid in Company D quarters and the regiment came to see the kid. When they went to tent No. 4 there sat Dr. Kidd. They were all in sore because they didn't see the swell kid.

One man in Company D got sick and somebody sent him down to see Dr. Buttermore. Dock tumbled and told him he had the pig and that it was catching and ordered him to be shot at sun rise. But when the boy fainted the fun was off, because Dock said to go for Major McCormick. McCormick laughed at the joke but did not roll in getting up at 3 o'clock in the morning.

Major Culbertson, the old boy that led the Tenth regiment through the Philippines, is here and having a good time. He is out of the regiment now, but says he cannot stay away from camp. That seems to set the same way on everybody that ever was in the Guard.

When Homer Wilson and Cy Marlette woke up this morning they were in the middle of the street. The wind did it, the fellows told them.

It takes a big engine and four men working all the time to keep the Second Brigade in stove wood. They have it stacked up 15 feet high.

This being a branch line from the Pennsylvania and Western Maryland the mail goes out slow. Recently the postoffice ran out of stamps and had none for a day. They say that 10,000 postals a day leave Gettysburg.

Worth K. Balsey was called home Thursday. The boys gave him a send off. He will be missed as he is our sole cornet player.

The first thing asked for when the mail man comes is The Courier from home. They all want to read it at the same time.

Captain Welty and Captain Hitchell complimented Captain Koller for having the best advance detail in the regiment. They said they worked like beavers and were the first to finish up. They unloaded the regimental stuff besides pitching the tents for B and D companies, and completed their work by 3 o'clock. Corporal Kreppe then took his detail to town and set 'em up.

Private Brown was out hunting relics and found some confederate balls and now he is blowing himself harder than he is blowing his bugle.

Company D has been complimented on the fine appearance of their cook tent.

The new cook, who took the place of James Spriggs, the man who was injured before leaving for camp, is a wonder. He is the best cook the company has had in late years. He put up a chicken dinner Wednesday that would rival the chicken "mother cooked," and the boys are loud in their praise of the service they are receiving in the kitchen and dining tent.

MAINE'S POLITICAL POT IS BOILING.

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 19.—The rock-rubbed Republican State of Maine is trembling in the political balance. The State election is to be held September 12, at which time a Governor, four Representatives and a State Legislature, which is to choose a United States Senator as successor to Senator Eugene Hale, are to be elected, and at no time in the history of the State since the days of the Greenback party has the outlook for Republican success appeared more gloomy. For the first time in thirty years the Democratic party is hopeful—day, almost confident—of a sweeping victory. The Republicans have again placed the name of Governor Burt M. Fernald before the voters for reelection. He was elected two years ago by the smallest majority any Republican had received in thirty years and is opposed by the State wing of the party. The Democrats have nominated for Governor Colonel Frederick W. Plaisted of Augusta, who is the son of Maine's last Democratic Governor of thirty years ago, the late General H. M. Plaisted, of Bangor. In every Congressional district of the State the Democrats have named strong tickets, have perfected a good organization and have been campaigning for three weeks.

Impression of general sorrow as the passing of George Shupe as it has seemed an almost universal topic. Particularly to the two children, Ethel and Rankin does sympathy extend, as it is but two years ago that their mother also passed away.

HIBERNIANS ELECT.

Pittsburg Named as State Secretary at Convention of Order.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Aug. 19.—James D. Sheehan of Philadelphia was yesterday elected state president of the Ancient Order of Hibernians who are holding their biennial convention in this city. After a warm contest he defeated J. F. Canfield of Shenandoah, with 100 votes to 90. Other officers elected at the session were:

Vice President, Edward Early, of Shamokin; Treasurer, M. S. Geary, of Smithport, McKean county; Secretary, Michael Deasy, of Pittsburg. Deasy's opponent, John J. Ryan, Philadelphia, withdrew before a ballot was cast.

Delegates from the western part of the State are working hard to land the 1912 convention, either at Pittsburg or McKeesport. An effort will be made to clean up all business of the convention by this evening.

At the Ladies' Auxiliary meeting yesterday, Miss Catherine Grace, county president of Philadelphia, and a delegate to the convention of the Catholic Federation Society, submitted a report on progress, and Miss Anna Malle, Scranton, national president, spoke of her trip to the national convention at Portland, Ore. Miss Mary Laville of Shamokin, Pa., state director, also told of her trip to the national convention.

Will Preach Funeral Sermon. Rev. Richard Kemp, pastor of the Trinity Episcopal Church of the West Side, will officiate at the funeral of the late Mrs. Emma Mesmore which will be held at St. Peter's Church, Uniontown, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Fell and Broke His Arm. Albert Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Shadrick Wilson, of near Detweiler's Mill, fell from a high board in the cellar of the Wilson home on Wednesday and sustained a fracture of the left arm. The boy is about 13 years old.

PYTHIAN SISTERS ELECT.

Mysterious Fires. The barns of Wm. McKelven and Samuel Earnest of near Ligonier, together with the residence of McKelven, were burned Wednesday night. The origin of the fire is supposed to have been incendiary.

Hay Fever Season Causes an Exodus to the Lake Region

Connellsville eligible to the United States Hay Fever association, one of the most flourishing organizations in the States, are planning their annual campaign of battle against this disagreeable ailment. They are turning their backs on the city and are on their way to the lake region, and between sneezes and coughs are waiting them at various lakeside resorts, all the way from Erie to the upper Mackinac region, and even to the cool retreats of Canada.

Some of those early afflicted are on the way to the lake region to escape the hay fever season. The hay fever season is known of the pollen that fills the air from rag-weed, dog-weed and other weeds, which swells the hay fever nose till space on the countenance. In crowded places, such as Main street is of a Saturday night.

Instead of the exports of the United States Hay Fever association feeling away, they are feeling the pollen that the hay fever season officially started Tuesday, their followers in Connellsville and Fayette and Westmoreland counties want a hot tip on how to put the everlasting kibosh on the thing.

Hay fever specialists are abroad, stringing impressive initials from the rear piazza of their names. Why, oh why, plead the wretched-eyed of Connellsville, in his day and age, when American supremacy is demonstrated on land and sea and in the air, can't somebody invent a real hay fever cure and save faraway Canuck regions.

There are the usual cubed-smoking suggestions. And the sufferers go on trying them this season, just as they have year after year. The darkest

A SERIOUS PLAY.

The Author Was Willing, Though, to Turn It into a Comedy.

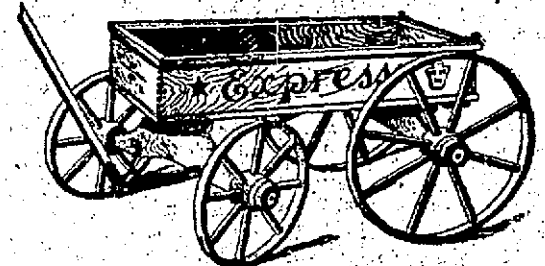

The gallery god, no less than the patron of the padded chair, aspires to write for the stage. I have a vivid remembrance of the first of all the plays submitted for production at the New theater in New York. It was from an employee in a local railroad station, probably a baggage smasher, and I shall betray no confidence in recording that the author's name was Murphy.

Though Mr. Murphy called his work a play, it was in reality only a scenario. It was entitled "Mum's Wife." The plot was as follows: In the first act Jim had no wife, but he took his girl to a dance. Action—They danced. In act second came the "great scene." The scene was caused by the fact that Jim's girl danced with another man. Jim felt impelled to kill him, but he refrained, reflecting that such things did not occur in the best circles and would thus be socially displeasing to his lady. The curtain fell on his act of self sacrifice in not killing the other dancer. In act third there was still more action. Jim's girl rewarded him for his delicacy by marrying him. Final curtain.

Mr. Murphy seemed weighed down by a fear that his play was too serious for the New theater. In his letter he said: "If you would rather have it a comedy I will send you the jokes. I have a few jokes too."—John Corbin in World's Work.

Judge Umbel Honored. R. E. Umbel, president judge of Fayette county, has just been notified of his choice as delegate to the thirty-third annual meeting of the American Bar Association, which will be held in Chattanooga, Tenn., August 30, 31 and September 1.

ROBBINS' CIRCUS

In Connellsville August 22 is Good One Ring Show.

A New York newspaper says, of Frank A. Robbins' circus which comes to Connellsville on August 22:

"The famous circus arrived in Connellsville during the small hours of the day and the experienced workmen erected the big tents with the rapidity with which the mushroom springs from the pasture lot. The boys invariably marvel at the ease and quickness with which the circus men build the huge canvases from a comparatively chaotic intricacy of ropes, pulleys and poles. If one believed in the power of magicians, one would almost declare that every big circus must employ a wonderful magician to weave his wand over the men when they erect the tents. However, the combined efforts of all the magicians on the face of the earth would not prove efficacious in the matter of building the white tops, for there isn't a bit of magic connected with the work at all. It is simply system—that does the trick—a splendid system which is carefully adhered to by every working man, from the superintendent down to the humblest canvasman. And to the careful observer this system is truly remarkable."

"To the infinite joy of the small boy and his sister and to the evident delight of the older folks, the circus parade repulse and resplendent in majestic, scintillating, bowling beauty, was taken over the principal streets of Connellsville this morning. And the jagsmen made a decidedly favorable impression on all who thronged the line of march."

DOUBLE TRAGEDY.

Foreign Woman Kills Edna Stork-keeper, Then Shoots Herself.

GREENSBURG, Aug. 19.—In a fit of jealousy Mrs. Mary Bankovitz of Adamsburg shot and killed John Tonajko yesterday afternoon. Tonajko, who kept a small store in the mining settlement of Edna, lay down on a bed after he ate his noonday meal and while he was sleeping, the woman shot him in the head. He died instantly. The woman then fired a bullet into her own head. The shots attracted the attention of neighbors who found the man dead and the woman lying upon the floor, blood streaming from the wound. Physicians were summoned and the woman hurried to the Westmoreland hospital here. She died at 9 o'clock last night.

David Baughman, aged 40, a farmer, employed to work the farm of the United Coal Company at Adamsburg, this county, was assaulted by a half dozen men last night on a roadway near the farm of the coal company. He was brought to the Westmoreland hospital, here, and is reported to be in a serious condition. He was cut about the head and bruised about the body. His assailants knocked him down and kicked him. Baughman says he was returning to the farm when he met a party of men, who had been attending a meeting of miners. He says they attacked him for no cause.

HAS TEDDY BROKEN WITH TAFT?

Visitors at Sagamore Hill Say Reports of Split Are Not Well Founded, at Least in New York State Political Matters.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Present indications from Sagamore Hill point to either a bitter fight against the administration, at the Saratoga convention, led by Colonel Roosevelt, or the complete absence of the colonel on that occasion.

If there had been any doubt as to the break between Mr. Taft and Mr. Roosevelt it would have vanished when several important political visitors rushed to the hill and held a long pow-wow. The colonel himself had little or no comment to pass upon the stories printed in the newspapers. He beamed and beamed.

It was very evident at the departure of County Chairman Lloyd Griscom, Collector Loch, Jr., Congressman Cox and Representative William M. Calder that there had been big doings on the hill. Mr. Loch looked worried. The colonel was mighty calm and continued to smile.

Roosevelt in Odd Position.
Colonel Roosevelt is in an odd position today. He is not anxious to buck the administration because he wants to wait until later on when the national situation will loom up so much greater than the New York state situation is now.

It was printed that Mr. Roosevelt would make an attack upon the administration. Judging from the events of the past twenty-four hours he may have to do so a good deal sooner than he expected. Vice President Sherman, in Beverly, when asked if "a clean cut progressive platform" would be adopted by the convention, replied that "a clean cut Republican platform" would be adopted, with the loud pedal on Republican. This did not conduce to make the colonel shout with glee. He scowled. As a matter of fact Mr. Roosevelt believes that Mr. Sherman, as a representative of the administration, stands for a clique the colonel cannot stand for. That is one cause of the breach.

May Be Candidate in 1912.
So far as the state situation goes Mr. Roosevelt has not made up his mind as yet. He believes that he had better wait and make his onslaught of a national character, which will be effective in 1912. It is by no means settled that Mr. Roosevelt will not be a candidate in 1912. If he goes ahead and expresses his views independently and lines up with the progressive wing of the party it is generally believed here that the nomination will be forced upon him, but he will wait and see what happens.

Reverly, Mass., Aug. 19.—An air of gloom pervades Republican circles in Washington. Republicans who have an interest in the national success of their party freely express the opinion that the organization has not been in such a desperate condition since the gloomy period preceding the re-election and defeat of President Harrison.

The Republican leaders now foresee a split in their party and there is not one in ten of them but what believes Roosevelt will be a candidate for the Republican nomination in 1912. Among the developments that have accentuated the gloom of the Republicans is the result in California, which was a surprise to the insurgents themselves.

The defeat of Representative Duncan E. McKintire is a blow to the administration, as well as to the Republican organization in the house and to the Republican congressional committee. Representative McKintire was a close personal friend of President Taft and had been entrusted by the president with a number of delicate political missions which required diplomacy and skill.

TREACHERY IS ALLEGED.
New York, Aug. 19.—Treachery. It is charged by numerous members of the Republican state committee, who are supporters of Mr. Roosevelt, that he is responsible for the selection of Vice President J. S. Sherman as temporary chairman for the state convention in place of Roosevelt. At the meeting of the Republican state committee on Tuesday.

The charge was made that the result of the vote on Tuesday at the meeting of the state committee was due to methods which could only be described as a bunko game.

It seems from information which was obtained at the county headquarters that the old guard combination sent out telegrams to several members of the committee, members who are thought to be allied with the progressive faction, intimating that the only business to be transacted at the meeting of the state body would be the perfunctory detail of fixing the time and date of the state convention.

Telegrams of this kind, it was said, were received by several committee men. Lulled because of the courtesies they had received into the belief that there was no need for their attendance at the meeting certain committee men sent proxies. As it happened these proxies were forwarded to a man who seemed to have been under the influence of the machine leaders and each one of these proxies voted for the resolution naming Mr. Sherman as the temporary chairman of the state convention.

It is the belief of Mr. Griscom and other leaders of the Republican party in this city that these committee men gave no instructions to their proxies as to how they should vote and that they merely gave their proxies for the purpose of joining in the meeting and not suspecting that anything more would happen than the mere determining of a date for the convention.

Should Have Been Tied Vote.
It is the contention of Mr. Griscom and of Mr. Roosevelt's other friends in the Republican party that these committee men themselves responded to the call the vote would have been a tie.

As Mr. Griscom says, this fact shows that there is no foundation for the claims which the Woodruff-Harnes forces are making that if there should be a showdown in the Saratoga convention the regular will win by 2 to 1.

Another statement made by Colonel Roosevelt's friends was that Woodruff and those behind him did not state the real facts when they said after the meeting on Tuesday that their action in choosing Mr. Sherman had the approval of President Taft. They state that President Taft was just as much tricked as they were and they say the president will take an opportunity to express the annoyance over their action.

DEEP GLOOM AT WASHINGTON.
Washington, Aug. 19.—An air of gloom pervades Republican circles in Washington. Republicans who have an interest in the national success of their party freely express the opinion that the organization has not been in such a desperate condition since the gloomy period preceding the re-election and defeat of President Harrison.

The Republican leaders now foresee a split in their party and there is not one in ten of them but what believes Roosevelt will be a candidate for the Republican nomination in 1912.

SOME SPEED TO TIMBERLAKE
Commercial Club Formed and Newspaper Started; Town 48 Hours Old.
Timberlake, S. D., Aug. 19.—"Watch Timberlake grow." With this slogan a commercial club already has been organized though the town is a little over forty-eight hours old and efforts are being made to secure the county seat of Dewey county and a government land office. The lot sale of the department of the interior was most successful. Three hundred and ten lots were disposed of in two days at a total price of $75,121.

Already a newspaper has been started and water works will shortly be installed.

Chilean's Tumble Is Fatal.
Wheeling, W. Va., Aug. 19.—Clarence Jackson, a prominent young man of Barton, O., was almost decapitated by a double charge from a shotgun while out hunting near his home. With a companion he started to run down a hill on the trail of a groundhog, when he fell over a stump. In falling his shotgun was discharged. He was brought to the North Wheeling hospital, where he died later.

REV. HILL'S LABELS

For La Follette and Aldrich Arch Anarchist and Patriot.

Cincinnati, Aug. 19.—Rev. John Wesley Hill, pastor of the Metropolitan tabernacle of New York and president of an anti-Socialist organization, passed through Cincinnati.

The Times-Star, owned and edited by C. P. Taft, brother of the president, quotes Mr. Hill as saying in the west the rank and file of the people are friendly to Taft.

Speaking of Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Hill said the greatest thing he ever did was to bring Taft forth as a presidential candidate. Later he labeled the following public men as:

"Cummings—Doughface demagogue."
"Garfield—Keyhole politician and garbazo inspector."
"Pinchot—Insurance politician."
"La Follette—Arch anarchist."
"Taft—The greatest president since Lincoln."
"Aldrich—A true patriot."
"Ballinger—The embodiment of reform."
"Cannon—A great and good man."

Waited For His Victim.
Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Aug. 19.—Waiting with a double-barreled shotgun until Anthony Pearce came down stairs at his boarding house in Oregon, Pa., John Fort, a boarder in the same house, fired both barrels into Pearce's chest, killing him instantly.

Fort escaped and although troopers of the state constabulary are searching they have not yet found any trace of him.

OVER THE FENCE IS OUT

Norristown, Pa., Aug. 19.—During a baseball game between two sides of insane patients on the lawn of the Norristown hospital for the insane one lunatic knocked the ball over the fence for a home run.

William Reed, another inmate, playing center field, leaped over the fence after the ball. Players waited patiently to go on with the game, but Reed failed to reappear. Then it dawned on the guards that the patient had escaped.

HAZARDOUS FEAT

Performed by Driller at the Hostetter Coke Works.

Greensburg, Pa., Aug. 19.—After making nineteen hazardous trips down a narrow hole, 270 feet deep, and removing an obstruction that had stopped drilling operations involving thousands of dollars, George Smith, a driller, is enjoying the sensation of being acclaimed a hero. Though gratified over the success of his feat, Smith emphatically declares "never again."

Recently in the drilling of a well for a pumping station of the Connellsville-Houston Coal and Coke company, in Unity township, the great drilling bit, weighing nearly 1,200 pounds, broke, and could not be removed. For nine weeks the forces of the contractor labored vainly to get it out.

Smith announced to Contractor Wirsing that he intended to do down the twenty-inch hole to find out the nature of the trouble. Tying a safety lamp to one of his legs and entering a slimy mass of stout rope, Smith was lowered. Nineteen times he was lowered into the narrow hole, and the nineteenth time he succeeded in tying a rope about a groove in a piece of the bit that had broken off. Then the journey to the top was begun.

JAIL PLACE FOR YOU

Says Duped Woman to Keeler, the Dentist Bignami.

New York, Aug. 19.—The number of women who claim to have married and been robbed by Harry B. Keeler, the dentist, who with his accomplice, Emma Keeler, is in Raymond street jail, Brooklyn, on a charge of grand larceny, was increased to six when letters were received from Lou Ashton of Pittsfield, Ill., charging that Keeler not only married her, stole $1,200 of her money, but also imprisoned her in an effort to take her life. Miss Ashton sent this letter to the prisoners.

"I thank God that your sins have found you out. The wages of sin is death, which should be your reward. I am glad you and your wife are behind bars. Hoping that you will rest in the penitentiary the rest of your lives, I close to Dr. Harry J. M. Baker, the palatine dentist, and Emma. May you find rest in heaven, but I cannot forgive you."

WAS TOO DIMINUTIVE

Musical Kills Himself Because He Is Little.

Lowistown, Pa., Aug. 19.—Because of his diminutive stature, Virgil Sina, forty-two years old, of New York city, sent a bullet into his brain on the street here. Sina was a drummer in a band playing in a park here. A letter was found at his lodgings containing $50 to be forwarded to his father in South America. The letter said he had committed suicide because his fellow musicians were always making sport of him owing to his small stature.

Knocked Off Wire With Chair.
Tamaqua, Pa., Aug. 19.—While doing stunts on a telegraph pole ten feet from the ground, Louis Henne, aged twenty-four years, came in contact with a live wire and hung screaming in the air. Several volunteer rescuers were knocked down by the current, but the boy's life was saved by Frank Donohue, who, with a chair, pulled the boy from his perilous position.

Accused Oklahoma Attorney

IS KEPT ON STAND ALL DAY

Says Vice President Sherman and Senator Curtis are Blameless and Senator Gore's Charges Are Not True. Admits Cecil Lyon Was Interested.

Sulphur, Okla., Aug. 19.—Besides G. Rosenwinkle, law clerk of Mansfield, McMurray & Cornish and ex-Governor William Gay of Sulphur, an uncle of Congressman Carter, J. F. McMurray was also a witness before the Burke committee. Rosenwinkle refused to testify on the ground of professional confidence.

McMurray was kept before the committee all day and it is believed his testimony will be continued next week. McMurray denied that Vice President Sherman is interested either in his individual or tribal contracts with the Indians and denied that Senator Curtis is interested in them or any other man officially connected with the federal government is.

He admitted that Cecil A. Lyon was interested in his tribal contracts, but not his individual contracts, with the Indians. McMurray said he employed ex-Senators Long and Thurston in his individual contracts because of their legal ability.

McMurray said he called upon Senator Gore at his office about June 10 in company with E. C. Milligan, a McAlester banker, and that the senator received him most cordially and readily agreed to help him to secure his 6 per cent fee in the settlement of the 605,000 acre claim of the Chickasaw nation. Gore told him he would speak to other members of the Oklahoma delegation and enlist their aid. Before McMurray and Milligan left Gore's office the witness said the senator also expressed regret that he could not support the 10 per cent contracts.

MONSTER TRAIN HAULED

Single Engine Pulls 120 Loaded Steel Cars on Pennay Road.

Altoona, Pa., Aug. 19.—A monster train of 120 loaded steel coal cars, each of fifty tons' capacity, was hauled over the middle division of the Pennsylvania railroad between Altoona and Harrisburg. The train was a mile and a quarter long.

A year ago an engine hauled 105 loaded cars over this division and the feat was regarded as remarkable. Telephonic communication was established between the engine and the houses of the train and the engineer was directed by the officials from the rear of the train. An average speed of more than twenty miles an hour was maintained over the division.

New York, Aug. 19.—It was announced unofficially at St. Mary's hospital, Hoboken, that if Mayor Gaynor's condition continues to improve as it has during the past three days by the beginning of next week the physicians will believe their patient well out of danger and on the quick road to recovery.

Today he was allowed to sit up in bed, propped by pillows, for a brief period.

WITH SOME INCIDENTAL RELATION TO THE WOMAN

By CURTIS TOWNSEND BRADY

ILLUSTRATIONS BY DEANORAH MELVILLE

"Morals, my dear Mr. Gormly, seem to have little to do with business. You must do what they like or—"

He shrugged his shoulders. "We shall see," said Gormly. "I believe, though I am not a student of military history, that an able general in one who takes advantage of the mistakes of the enemy, and that more battles are won by such sharp-eyed endeavor than by deliberate planning."

"Precisely! This is a case in point. The Gotham Freight Traction company is taking advantage of your mistake."

"But I have also heard," continued Gormly impudently, "that the ablest general is he who not only takes advantage of his enemy's mistakes but who turns his own mistakes to good account. I propose to antagonize the party in power and the Gotham which granted this franchise and delivered the city into the hands of this corporation and to drive them out."

"Many men have tried that; none in my recollection have succeeded."

"The more beer in succeeding now, and the more inspiration to try."

"But suppose you did succeed, what then? How would that affect the Gotham Freight Traction company?"

"Meanwhile," said Gormly, and in this instance he deliberately laid all his cards on the table. "I propose to take advantage of the one blunder of the Gotham Freight Traction company."

"And what is that?" asked Haldane with intense eagerness. There was no longer the faintest pretense between these two. His cards were on the table as well, although he had not admitted it.

"In order to make the franchise of the Gotham Freight Traction company really of value, to complete the system, without which it begins and ends in the air, they must have the old New York Street Car company franchise which expires next spring. It covers the only available routes and the only available streets to connect the two ends of the Gotham enterprise. Somehow or other the status must be controlled, the corporation failed to secure the renewal of this franchise. It has to be voted upon and passed in the spring."

"The present administration," was the quick reply, "will be in power until the April elections. The franchise expires in March. No regret of it could be made until then. It will be renewed before a new administration could supplant the old, even if your wild dreams were successful."

"That is to be seen," answered Gormly coolly.

"My dear sir, it is self-evident."

"By no means. Public opinion should be aroused on the question of the renewal of the franchise of the New York Street Car company, with a clear explanation of the principles and consequences involved, to such an extent that I do not believe any administration on earth will dare to counter it."

"And who will do this arousing?"

"I will."

"By offering myself as a candidate for mayor of New York and by fighting the battle on that issue, and that alone."

"I might," said Haldane slowly, after a deeply thoughtful moment—"I might secure the privileges you desire—conditioned—"

"I don't desire them now, Mr. Haldane," returned Gormly. "I am in the battle to stay. I ask nothing from the Gotham Freight Traction company; it can confer no favors upon me. I shall take what I am entitled to by the grace of God and the will of the people."

Haldane stared a long time at the dark, determined face of his host.

"You will make a splendid enemy, Mr. Gormly," he said at last. "The battle between you and the Traction company will be one worth going a long distance to see."

Haldane looked fixedly at the young man. He acknowledged that in him the Gotham Freight Traction company and he himself had found the worst antagonist that the abundant and brilliant talent of the great metropolis could produce.

At that instant the tall clock in the hall struck the hour of 12.

"I have the honor," said Gormly, bowing formally, "to wish you a very Merry Christmas, Mr. Haldane."

CHAPTER VI.

Gormly Announces His Candidacy.

The hall into which Miss Haldane stepped early the next morning had been transformed into a perfect bower of winter beauty. There had been no time to buy anything, but the most available pine trees on the place, of which there were several, had been judiciously sacrificed, and under Gormly's personal supervision the hall, a magnificent apartment under any circumstances, had been lavishly decorated with the fragrant evergreen in honor of Christmas.

The storm of the night had blown itself out with the advent of the day. It was a brilliant, sunshiny morning. The air was clear as a bell and very crisp and cold. Miss Haldane knew this; for, finding the hall deserted on her entrance, without more ado she went out through the vestibule and stepped on the porch, surveying the blue waters of the sound tossing gaily beyond the ice crust that lined the shore in front of her. The cold and brisk breeze brought a glorious touch of red to her cheeks. She incarnated the very spirit of youth and beauty and happiness as she re-entered the hall, and coming face to face with Gormly wished him again a Merry Christmas.

Gormly had been busy during the night. He actually had not slept a wink. So soon as he had got to the stable, and in default of anyone else who could do so, he had himself ridden across the country through the snow and storm, which was even then dying out, to notify the people at the Haldane place of the predicament of the family and to arrange that mules and men with proper clothing should be brought over to his own cottage early in the morning.

Hence Miss Haldane was under no necessity of appearing in evening costume at eight o'clock in the morning, or of making a gay of herself in Mrs. Haldane's extraordinary attire. She had learned, of course, from her maid how the news had been brought and how she happened to be there with the change of apparel.

Miss Haldane had not slept very well, for one reason her thoughts dwelt unceasingly upon that strange conversation she had had with her host. She had awakened earlier than the rest, had dressed immediately, and had descended to the hall in hope of seeing him. Her pleasure and satisfaction sparkled in her eyes as she extended her hand.

"I am delightedly Christmaslike in the room, how good it smells!" she said after the first words of greeting.

"I am glad indeed that it pleases you," answered Gormly, smiling. "And if you will permit me, I will repeat my words of last night, or early this morning, and wish you again a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year as well."

"And I will give you back your wish with interest," returned Miss Haldane. "I did last night. I am sure that I am all intensely grateful to you for your forethought in having the mules and clothes brought over. Felice, my maid, has told me that you rode over yourself very early this morning to carry the mules of our plight, and to bring them. It must have been hard riding."

"It took me back to boyhood days, Miss Haldane."

"In the west?" asked the girl.

"Well, yes," was the somewhat reluctant answer, "although the greater part of my boyhood was not spent in the west."

"And this ride in the storm, was it like the other rides and storms you have experienced?"

"This was a very mild affair compared to those. I could wish it had been harder."

"Why?"

"This time I was riding for another woman, a different woman."

Miss Haldane rather thrilled to the direct statement, but womanlike she changed the subject. She was later seated in Gormly, nothing else.

"Did you have this Christmas arrangement of pine made in the hall?" she asked irrelevantly.

"For you—and your party," interposed Gormly with a perceptible break after the previous so as to allow the fact to permeate thoroughly. "I wish," he added, that circumstances permitted me to signalize the season by offering you an adequate Christmas present."

"I have, however, something that may possibly interest you, which I may venture to hope you may regard as a personal tribute from me in lieu of such a gift."

"And what is that?" asked Miss Haldane, her curiosity getting the better of her discretion.

"It is here!" said Gormly, extending to her a copy of The New York Planet, of Christmas morning, which had been brought over from the station by special messenger by his direction.

"The morning paper?" exclaimed the girl, with a laugh.

"Not so much the morning paper, in reading," though it usually is, but something that appears therein."

"What is that?"

"Allow me."

He took the paper from her, opened it until he came to the advertising section, and then handed it back to her. In bold type covering a whole page she read the following:

"Mr. George Gormly offers himself to the people of New York as a candidate for the mayoralty in the forthcoming election. Mr. Gormly formally submits the following as his platform:

"Honest administration of the laws in the interest of the people; the preservation of all the rights and privileges of the people; the operation of the public franchises by the people, not by corporations; the due safeguarding of the rights of the people; the abolition of graft; a non-partisan administration in which 'Honesty' and 'Honor' shall be the watchwords, which shall be conducted on business principles in the ancient and admirable acceptance of those words."

"Mr. Gormly pledges his business and personal honor, which the people of New York who have dealt with him for a quarter of a century have had ample opportunity of testing, that, if elected, he will administer the affairs of the city honestly and with the same care and ability with which he has striven to carry on his own business to the satisfaction of the public. He would advise the voters, if they are in doubt as to what his business methods are, to refer to their mothers, sisters, wives, and daughters who have been patrons of his store."

"In the hope that better days are drawing for New York, Mr. Gormly has the honor to wish his friends, and those whom he must to his great regret characterize as his enemies, a very Merry Christmas and a happy and prosperous New Year."

Eleanor Haldane read this extraordinary announcement aloud. Then she handed the paper back to him and extended her hand, joyfully exclaiming:

"It is perfectly splendid! It's the finest thing I have ever heard. Nothing could have delighted me more. I am so glad to see you, irreverently committed to the step! I am sure you will be elected, and—"

"What, my dear child," broke in the cold voice of Mrs. Haldane, who was just descending the stairs, "is giving you such joy, may I ask?"

"Mother," said the young woman, turning to her and lifting the paper from the table, "what do you think?"

Mr. Gormly has announced himself as candidate for mayor of New York at the spring election."

"Indeed," began Mrs. Haldane loftily, surveying Gormly through her long netting, "I am quite surprised."

"I think it's awfully jolly," broke in Miss Stewart, who had followed the older woman into the hall. "I didn't know that gentlemen mingled in politics as a rule. I thought it was all reserved for the Sachem society."

"What you don't know about the politics of New York would fill a large book," said Mrs. Stewart. "Livingstone had never heard of him until he met Mr. Devereux at the same time."

"I am afraid it will be a day for the men," said the doctor, "when the women begin to take intelligent interest in men, not merely as men but as politicians."

"What has started the political discussion?" queried Mrs. Stewart.

"Mr. Gormly has," answered his sister. "He has announced himself as candidate for mayor of New York."

"And I said that I never knew that gentlemen went into politics," interposed Miss Stewart.

"They often enter," said the doctor, "as gentlemen; but infrequently leave with the same degree."

"That's right," answered Livingstone. "It is rather a nasty game to play."

"But don't you think," asked Gormly, "that if a few more gentlemen would play it, it would become a cleaner game?"

"Of course, it would," assented the vivacious Miss Stewart. "Mr. Haldane, why don't you enter it yourself?"

"By Jove!" exclaimed the young man, "that wouldn't be a half bad idea, would it, sis? Father's always talking to me about a career and all that. I wonder why that wouldn't be a good game?"

"It's expensive enough as a pastime," said Dr. Devereux, "to run with horse racing and automobile and other pleasant enjoyments of the harmless rich."

"I should not think," said Mrs. Haldane ponderously, "of allowing my son to associate himself with—"

"Mother!" cried her daughter, "you forget that Mr. Gormly—"

"Quite so, quite so," said the lady vaguely; "but for persons in—"

"Yes," said Dr. Devereux, "politics as a rule is made up of barter and sale, I believe."

"If that's the case," interposed young Haldane facetiously, "I'll get father to buy me the office, and—"

His sister turned on him contemptuously. "Livingstone," she said, "this is a serious matter. The people of New York have been robbed right and left in every way. Everybody knows that. We have the worst administration that has ever disgraced the city. Mr. Gormly, for the sake of the people, is going to try to make things different."

"They all say that," laughed Livingstone. "I don't mean anything personal of course, Mr. Gormly."

KING AND QUEEN OF ITALY GO TO SEE FATHER OF LATTER CROWNED IN MONTENEGRO

ROME, Aug. 18.—King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helene of Italy have started for the little principality of Montenegro, which is soon to become the kingdom of Zeta, with the father of Queen Helene, Prince Nicholas I, as king. Advice from the Swiss frontier that anarchists have gathered to assassinate the royal party have caused extraordinary police precautions to be taken, but the Swiss authorities declared that the gathering of anarchists has nothing to do with a plot to slay the king. When the king and queen of Italy arrive in Montenegro the actual change from dependency to kingdom will have taken place, but for several days following their arrival there will be elaborate festivities in court circles. It is said that King Nicholas plans to make his court as exclusive and stately as that at Vienna.

At that instant the tall clock in the hall struck the hour of 12.

"BACK TO THE FARM"

By C. V. GREGORY.

(Copyright, 1916, by American Press Association)

IN 1902 congress passed a law appropriating money for the establishment of colleges of agriculture and mechanic arts. Today there are sixty-seven such institutions in the United States. The establishment of the agricultural colleges opened up an entirely new field of education. The study of science and the application of that science to the problems of everyday life began to take the place of the study of classics. This was a man merely to have him educated to go out of style, and the truer education that better fits a man to tackle the problems of life took its place.

The growth of the agricultural colleges was slow at first, and not until within the last fifteen years have they gained there. Is it worth it? I have put this question anxiously to dozens of men in their last year at an agricultural college. Without exception they say that it is worth the outlay. Not one regretted the time or the money which he had bartered for his education. Few of them placed it on a money basis alone, but even from that standpoint they considered that the chances were in favor of the college man.

The boy who starts farming for himself without any education will run up against a good many snags which the college man will miss. He will learn by experience many of the things which the college man learns in school. In doing so he will pay much dearer for his knowledge. The old prejudice against "book farming" is fast disappearing. People are coming to realize that book farming is merely the fabled experience of successful farmers everywhere, explained and flummied by the light of science. Probably in no one respect is the advantage of the college man more clearly apparent than in the case of soil fertility. Long after the untrained man has begun to notice and wonder at the decline of his crop yields the man who has studied the science of soil fertility will be raising undiminished crops. The art of keeping up the soil fertility cannot be learned from the neighbors, for they have not practiced it. It cannot be learned from father or grandfather, for in their day the fertility of the soil was considered inexhaustible.

The success of the agricultural college graduate cannot be measured in money alone. The agricultural communities just now need leaders much more than they need men who can simply make money on their own farms. It is necessary for the agricultural college graduate to succeed on his own farm, of course. His every move is closely watched by critical neighbors. Even the shadow of a failure starts a chorus of "I told you so."

Success on his own farm is the first essential to the young man who would be a leader. Given that for backing, he can do almost anything he wants to with his community. Farmers have a vast deal of respect for the man who can do things. Their prejudice against college farming is lost in admiration for the results achieved by the college farmer. If no advice or guidance a club they are willing to join in and help. If he tells them the school needs reorganizing they are willing to be convinced. They may even consent to bringing two or three schools together and using the money saved to better teachers. The inspiration of one man's success and the example imparted by him is sufficient to start a whole community to thinking. Once you get a man to thinking, there is no need to worry further about him. He will take care of himself.

If an energetic young farmer with an agricultural education could be placed in each township throughout the farming sections the results would be an enlightened agriculture that would be the envy of the whole world. A leading educator recently made the statement that three live agricultural college graduates could in ten years increase the value of the land in any agricultural county $20 per acre. That sounds incredible, but

Itching Scalp Vanishes

Under the Magical Influence of Parian Sage

As a rule, the application of Parian Sage will stop the worst case of itching scalp, and make the head feel cool and refreshed.

Used as directed, this wonderful hair tonic (which can now be obtained in every town and city in America) will stop itching hair and dandruff in ten to twenty minutes. Ask A. A. Clarke, the druggist.

Careful people who desire an immaculate clean scalp and luxuriant hair, should not hesitate to try this wonderful invigorator and hair beautifier, for nothing ever compounded can compare with it.

Get rid of dandruff, stop your hair from falling out, start to grow an abundance of luxuriant hair, make your hair look lustrous, radiant and attractive.

Parian Sage will do it, and do it in an astonishingly short time. It is not sticky or greasy, it is delicately perfumed, and in summer will immediately drive away the disagreeable odor arising from perspiration.

Heals to Match Wink

"In every theater audience there are critical persons who are prone to make suggestions for making the play more realistic," said a stage manager. "Some of these hints are worth considering too. In one play that was staged not long ago the biggest hit was made by a character actress who had to wear down-at-the-heel shoes. On the third day of the New York run I received a letter from a shoemaker, who called my attention to the fact that the woman's gait and her wheel did not match. Her heels were run down on the outside, whereas the walk she assumed on the stage must inevitably cause her shoes to run over on the inside. That was a point that had escaped the notice of everybody in the company. Upon looking into the matter we found plenty of evidence to uphold our critic, and we secured a pair of proper shoes with heels worn away on the inside."—New York Press.

The Gegenstein.

The Gegenstein is the name given to one of the most inexplicable objects known to astronomers. It is visible in the night sky under favorable conditions, is rounded in outline and is situated always exactly opposite the place of the sun. It has been termed by one eminent astronomer "a sort of cometary or meteoric satellite" attending the earth. He supposes it to be composed of a cloud of meteors situated about a million miles from the earth and revolving around it in a period of just one year, so that the sun and the meteors are always on opposite sides of the earth. It is estimated that the size of this ghostly satellite may be nearly the same as that of the planet Jupiter—about 98,000 miles in diameter.—Harper's Weekly.

Games This Week.
Saturday—Morgan at Trotter.
*Play off tie game.

For the first time since the Central Frick League started games were postponed by rain last evening. Two contests had to be called off. The Davidson-Trotter and Monarch-Leisenring games were delayed by the heavy shower which came up about 5 o'clock and continued for the better part of an hour. Trotter tried hard to get in the game but the rain continued and it was called off by umpire Eddie Dugan. This adds another to the list of postponed games. The other contests are the games.

Tomorrow Morgan and Trotter will clear off the tie game that Youngstown played early in the season. The game will be played at Trotter. Trots Trotter team has strengthened greatly of late and the game tomorrow should be a war one.

The season closes on Labor Day. That gives but little more than two weeks of play. Three tie games remain to be played off. They are the Blair-Lemont, Trotter-Morgan and Trotter-Blair games.

With the two games delayed by yesterday's rain the league is just five games behind its schedule. Of these Trotter figures in three. The Trotter team will have to get busy and clean the slate before the season closes.

A BIG DEMAND

For The Courier Last Evening in the Morgan Valley.

OWENSVILLE, Aug. 19.—(Special.) There was a great call for The Courier last evening and the newsboys distributed their bundles in a few minutes but as quick transportation facilities are lacking in the valley extra bundles were not ordered.

The Morgan valley contingent is greatly enthused over the cellar teams in the Central Frick League coming to the front and as The Courier gives full and accurate accounts of all games, it naturally is the most in demand. Plans are now greatly interested in the battles on foreign diamonds as most of them are aiding Morgan to the front ranks.

CARS SHOPS TO PLAY

The Strong Trauger Team at Everson Tomorrow Afternoon.

The Car Shops team will play Trauger of the Northern district Saturday afternoon. The Sawickley branch has made it known that they expect to administer to the Car Shops' aggression their second defeat this season. However, that remains to be seen.

Car Shops have been playing winning ball of late and expect to down Trauger. Horns and Mullik will be in line for Car Shops.

MOISSANT'S FLIGHT FROM PARIS TO ENGLAND MARKS HIM AS GREAT AVIATOR.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—By completing his flight from Paris to within twenty-five miles of London today, John Moissant, the Chicago architect, made a most remarkable record. He was unknown almost among aviators and had never been in England until he flew across the channel. In the trip from Paris he covered a total distance of 256 miles and at the same time carried as a passenger his mechanic. He made but five flights before his sensational international flight. Moissant is a little man, five feet three inches tall and weighing 135 pounds, with keen brown eyes. His passenger was a burly French mechanic, weighing 175 pounds, who says he feels quite at home with his employer in the air. Moissant is 35 years of age and an architect by profession. He came to Europe on a pleasure trip, took up aviation and built two aeroplanes. His present machine is one of the latest Blériot type, with a Gnome engine.

NEAR LONDON WHEN HE DROPS

Gold, Young Flier Lands in Big Brick
Pit—He and His Mechanic Have Narrow Escapes From Death—Mois-sant's Life One of Daring.

London, Aug. 19.—"I'll reach the goal I set out for, even if it costs me my life," declares young John Moissant, the intrepid American aviator, who in his Paris to London flight narrowly escaped death when his machine was wrecked in one of London's suburbs. In attempting to continue to Crystal Palace, where he expected to land, a stay in his Blériot monoplane broke and he was pitched into an old brick pit at Upchurch, near Rainham. The engine was fouled in the descent and the propeller and part of the chassis smashed, but the driver and his mechanic were only slightly hurt.

He was cheerful and appeared unshaken by a narrow escape from hitting a clump of trees as he pitched down 400 feet.

Nothing to compare with the bold American youth's flight has ever been tried in aviation.

The feat is easily the most sensational to date in aeroplaning. Moissant already having several records to his credit, not the least of which is being the fourth man to cross the English channel in an airplane and the first to negotiate the trip with a passenger.

All this the work of a novice, a man who has only had a year's experience in aviation, made only five flights in already before and paid his first visit of any kind to England when he dropped down from the clouds in an aeroplane after crossing the English channel.

John Moissant, Daring Adventurer.
New York, Aug. 19.—In Nicaragua and the various other republics of Central America where many Americans of adventurous spirit have staked their lives and reputations on their quickness with a gun, John Moissant, the Paris to London aviator, bears a reputation which is nothing short of legendary. No hero of romance ever had so many extraordinary exploits attributed to him.

At the time when Moissant was sojourning in Nicaragua it was told here by a Nicaraguan, a tramp steamer with a cargo valued at about $100,000 was cast ashore during a storm and abandoned. That night in the teeth of the gale, Moissant made his way along to the steamer. In the morning the storm abated and the ship's crew rowed out to the ship, which was held fast on a sunken reef in the outer harbor. They were halted by a shot from Moissant's revolver and the ship's skipper rowed back to shore to inform the American consul that Moissant claimed the ship and her cargo as salvage and had threatened to blow the head off the first man who tried to come aboard.

There was a second expedition to the ship, this time with the American consul and some native soldiers, but Moissant refused to be impressed, and to show his sincerity of purpose shot a hole through the saucer of the native commandant.

During the next night another storm swept the harbor and completed the wreck of the tramp. When daylight broke the vessel was seen to have foundered. Moissant was found lashed to the topmast flanking of the steamer, which emerged only a few feet above the water.

Gossip of the Frick League Teams; Race for the Pennant Is a Close One.

The teams in the Central Frick League are well bunched and the pennant is within reach of several teams. Leisenring leads Morgan by the narrow margin of half a game. Trotter by less than two games, and Davidson and Monarch by exactly two games. In other words, should Leisenring lose the next two games and Davidson and Monarch win, Leisenring would tumble into the second division.

Leisenring only leads Bate by a fraction over three games and Bate by exactly four. At the rate the second division teams are playing it is too certain that either Leisenring or Morgan will be pennant contenders at the close of the season two weeks hence. It may be Trotter or Davidson, Monarch or Bate, Blitter or Leisenring. Strange things have happened.

Leisenring has two games with Monarch, and one with Trotter. Leisenring and Morgan before the season ends. This is a hard schedule for the Leisenring boys and they will have to go some to maintain their present lead. Leisenring has probably the hardest schedule of all for the rest of the season. Morgan has yet to meet Trotter twice, Bate, Monarch and Leisenring. Davidson, Blitter, Monarch and Monarch. Monarch meets Leisenring twice, Blitter, Morgan and Davidson. It will be seen by these units yet to come that no team has a fortnight on first place, and will have to fight for that position.

The Leisenring team never made a double play until Wednesday. Then the team made three of them. That a league record Morgan and Trotter have each made two double plays in one game on two occasions. Monarch is the only team which has not yet turned the trick. Trotter leads with a Morgan and Leisenring have made four each. Bate, Davidson and Leisenring have three each to their credit and Blitter has made two.

The Morgan team in four games has had 21 men left on base. Two figures for the other teams up to Wednesday's games, show Leisenring has deserted 23 men on the paths, Trotter left 25 pleading for a chance to score, Monarch heartlessly abandoned 31. Bate was decided to go to his home in Michigan for a long rest. He has been going at a speedy pace of late. Katchel has blown in a fortune since he first came into the pugilistic limelight. He has won about $65,000 in his ring career. But the middleweight champion's friends assert that he has very little left.
